Forest Street Compassionate Care Center joins Colorado Association of Homes and Services for the Aging

DENVER—The Colorado Association of Homes and Services for the Aging (CAHSA), Colorado’s largest nonprofit association representing providers of aging services, announced today that Forest Street Compassionate Care Center has joined the association.

Forest Street Compassionate Care Center, a 60-bed skilled nursing facility in Denver’s Park Hill neighborhood, serves residents in northeast Denver and the surrounding communities. Forest Street accepts Medicare, Medicaid, U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Contracts, private funds and numerous private insurances.

For more information, please contact Mitch Friedman of Forest Street Compassionate Care Center at 720-929-0086 or lrcmanagement@msn.com.

About CAHSA (www.cahsa.org)

Established in 1968, the Colorado Association of Homes and Services for the Aging (CAHSA) is the state’s largest nonprofit organization representing a spectrum of providers that deliver services to the elderly. More than 200 member organizations belong to CAHSA, including nursing facilities, retirement communities, independent living housing and community-based services. CAHSA advocates public policy initiatives that support individual rights, quality care, equitable access and reimbursement for seniors. CAHSA is the state affiliate for two national organizations, the Assisted Living Federation of America and the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging.
